

“The Tapestry of High School Clubs”

~ Susmit Das

In the halls of high school, where dreams take flight,
A world of opportunities, in clubs so bright.
Each club a canvas, a place to belong,
Where passions ignite, where we all grow strong.

In Mathletes, numbers dance with grace,
Solving equations at a challenging pace.
In Literary Magazines, words weave their spell,
Stories and poems, where emotions swell.

Autism clubs promote understanding and care,
Inclusivity and kindness, they always share.
Science geeks explore the mysteries untold,
In labs and experiments, their brilliance unfolds.

The Drama Club shines on the stage so grand,
Actors and artists, a talented band.
Student Government, leaders of the pack,
Making changes and plans, never looking back.

From Chess to Debate, our minds engage,
Strategies and arguments, with passion and rage.
In Robotics, machines come to life,
Inventing the future, amid joy and strife.

High school clubs, a tapestry diverse,
In each one, unique talents we rehearse.
Friendships forged, memories made,
In this high school journey, we find our shade.

So let us cherish these clubs so dear,
For they shape our futures, year after year.
In high school clubs, we find our place,
Building skills, making memories, leaving a trace.
